Screening Criteria

- Included: Studies related to addiction, including behavioral addictions. Food addiction is eligible but not eating disorders.
- Although formal evidence syntheses (e.g., systematic reviews and meta-analyses, evidence gap maps) and theoretical papers are included, non-systematic ("narrative" reviews) are not.

Inclusion Criteria	Exclusion Criteria
Primary Research
1. Studies of recovery community supports, including online programs (e.g., 12-step or similar programs). 2. Studies of services that link patients to services outside clinical realm; this could include outpatient studies which study the linkage between outpatient services and community recovery support services. 3. Studies that focus on those who self-identify as being in recovery or is on participants/patients in the action/maintenance stages of change or self-identify as being in recovery. 4. If an inpatient/outpatient treatment studies without linkage to services outside the clinical realm, then follow-up that goes beyond more than 1 year after treatment. 5. Studies about medication treatment (e.g., buprenorphine, methadone, suboxone) are only included if the study is not about initiation of MOUD (i.e., if participants have already been taking MOUD before the study began).	Studies which only focus on prevention.
Think Pieces and other Theoretical Articles
1. Manuscripts that focus on theories of recovery and recovery-related behavior change, recovery capital (or its subdomains), recovery community centers, recovery housing, recovery schools/programs, recovery trajectories, recovery milestones	